SUBJ: ON Semiconductor Product Return Process - for Replacement or Credit

DATE: November 2010

Dear Customer,

ON Semiconductor Corporation recently announced the signing of a definitive purchase agreement providing for the acquisition of SANYO Semiconductor Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of SANYO Electric, and other assets related to SANYO Electric's semiconductor business.

On Monday, January 31st 2011, all Sanyo Component Europe (SCE), Semiconductor Division business processes and systems will be replaced by existing ON Semiconductor practices and procedures. The changes to be implemented will directly impact continuing business operations and relationships with all Direct and Channel Partners of the SCE, Semiconductor Division. As part of this integration, there will be a change to the return process for replacement or credit between your Company and ON Semiconductor. ON Semiconductor's replacement or credit return process and return locations will apply to all acquired SCE, Semiconductor Division's products starting on January 31st 2011.

This document outlines the customer return process for all ON Semiconductor product returns for replacement or credit. Some product return destinations are changing so it is important to confirm the correct shipment location. This document also outlines the return policy and customer return process for all ON Semiconductor product replacement or credit returns.

PRODUCT RETURNS – for Credit or Replacement
Step-By-Step Process for all ON Semiconductor product returns.

All product return locations are determined by the customer's "ship-to" country (i.e., by the Country where the customer received the products from ON Semiconductor). The steps for this process are as follows:

1. When you need to return an ON Semiconductor shipment for replacement or for credit, you must first contact your ON Semiconductor customer service representative (CSR) to submit a Return Merchandise Requests (RMR).
2. Your CSR will provide you with a Return Materials Authorization (RMA) number authorizing your product return.
3. The RMA form will contain the address/location appropriate for you to ship your return to. (Your customer service representative will also inform you of the routing instructions for the return shipment.)
